

Assignment #01

Communication Skills (ENG-201)

Amina Munir from BS-ENGLISH (3rd semester)

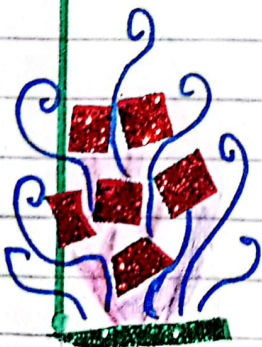

Roll # (20018) , (048352)

Submitted to:
Ma'am Naeela

Dated: 22nd - feb - 2022

Day: Tuesday.

'Beautiful
art Work!'

Content

(i) Speaking Skills

(ii) Presentation Skills

(iii) Interviews

Don't GREL

Q1.- What are the salient features of an effective speech?

A.-

Salient Features of an effective Speech

There are certain salient features of speech which make it an art & magic. They are detailed as below.

1) Engrossing & Captivating:

- An effective speech is highly engrossing & captivating
- It continues to inspire & motivate the listener.

2) The speaker must have a commanding but friendly voice:

- In a good & effective speech, the speaker continues to speak in a commanding but friendly voice.
- His friendly gestures & pleasant rise & fall of voice is sure to sweep the audience to his point of view.

3) Clear and Logical:

- An effective speech contains clear, logical & convincing ideas. It doesn't ridicule others.
- It doesn't contain abused criticism on the rivals.

- It may be lengthy but it moves round its main theme.

4) contains light hearted material:

- The speech is packed with anecdotes examples & humorous points.
- The use of light material brings the listeners heart close together.
- It produces in them freshness & a new energy to go on listening.

5) Language used is at par with the audience:

- The content & the vocabulary used in an effective speech is at par with the ability & interest of the audience.

6) Contains natural material:

- An effective speech contains natural material.
- It justifies the saying 'style is the man'.

7) Creates friendly atmosphere:

- An effective speech creates a friendly atmosphere between the speaker & the listener.
- The listener comes close to the speaker & finds in him his sympathizer & a friend.

8) Reflection of Speaker's personality:

- An effective speech reflects the speaker's unique personality & creativity in expression.
- The listener is deeply impressed by the dress, the gestures movements of the speaker.
- He considers him his hero & tries to imitate him in the daily course of his life.

Q9. What are the elements of effective speaking?

A: Elements of effective Speaking.

Every person has his own criterion for evaluating effective speaking. However, the popular rule of effective speaking is that the audience must listen with rapt attention to what the speaker is saying. The listener cherishes a desire to listen to the speaker again & again. There are some traits commonly accepted which are vital for speaking.

Constituents or elements of effective speaking

• What to Say •

- (i) Perfect clarity of thought & purpose.
- (ii) A practical course in effective English speaking skills.
- (iii) Useful & interesting content.
- (iv) Thorough familiarity with the essential components of the subject.

• How to Say •

- (i) Self-confidence.
- (ii) A unique style
- (iii) Good command of words
- (iv) Good pronunciation.
- (v) Good Humour, wit & interesting anecdotes.
- (vi) Motivating. ✓
- (vii) Ensuring peace of mind.
- (viii) Self-enjoyment.

• When to Say •

- (i) Time at which something is said
- (ii) Right time. ✓
- (iv) Peaceful environment

Q1- What are presentation skills? Write a note on their objectives & importance.

A:

PRESENTATION SKILLS

- Presentations are a way of communicating information & ideas to a group of people.
- A Presentation has a proper symmetry; beginning, middle & end that are well sequenced & structured.
- Major component of presentation is Speaker (Presenter)

Steps that should followed in Oral Presentation are given below:-

① Know aim & purpose of your speech

- Three aims in oral communication, a speaker must know.
 - (i) To inform
 - (ii) To persuade
 - (iii) To entertain
- Speaker should know he made speech to supply certain piece of information.
 - He should know, he is going to persuade his audience according to his arguments
 - He should know that he wants to entertain his audience.

2- Know Your Audience:

- A speaker should know his audience → must collect information about the cultural & religious background.
→ should know their mental ability.
→ Their language (either technical or ordinary).

3- Main ideas of message or speech:

- A speaker should select main theme of topic he is going to deliver. ↓
Main idea should be organized. More information to the main idea of his speech.

4- Research the topic:

- A speaker should study the ideas he is going to deliver from different sources. ↓
new ideas & new things. Ideas from newspapers, magazines, books & the internet.

5- Organize the data:

- A speaker should organize his speech into three parts,

a) Introduction

- Opening lines of a speaker's speech is very important.
- Good introduction (captivating)
→ can begin with,
 - a quotation,
 - a question,
 - a startling statement
 - a humorous anecdote.

b) Body

- main thesis of speech
- should not be lengthy
- restrict it to two or three points.

c) Conclusion.

- Should finish his speech with a flourish.
- Summary of main points effectively
- End can be of quotation or a verse.

6. Create Visual aids:

- A speaker can use visual aids if his speech or presentation requires that.
- This optional.
- Dependent upon nature of speech.
 - ① Black board with Chalk / white board with marker.
 - ② Flip charts
 - ③ The Magnetic board.
 - ④ Handouts
 - ⑤ Film & video
 - ⑥ Charts
 - ⑦ The Overhead projector.

7. Rehearsal talk:

- A speaker should make rehearsal of his speech.
- In order to gain full result, he should revise it thrice.

PUACP

Q2 - How to deliver an effective oral presentation?

A:

AN EFFECTIVE ORAL PRESENTATION

- When you come to stage to deliver a speech, you must be sure that you are fully prepared.
- You should answer the following questions before you deliver the speech:
 - a) Do you know the aim & purpose of your speech?
 - b) Do you know your audience?
 - c) Have you calculated & organized the basic ideas of your speech?
 - d) Are you going to take the help of visual aids?
 - e) Have you made a rehearsal of your speech?
 - f) Are you dressed properly?

Following are the effective measures in which a speaker could find answers and ideas of above questions:

1) EFFECTIVE DELIVERY STYLE:

→ Delivery is how a message is communicated orally & visually through voice & body.

→ An effective delivery is both Conversational & Animated.

Conversational

- An effective delivery is conversational.
- You must talk with the audience.
- Hall mark of conversational style is Spontaneity.
↓
ability to sound natural.

Animated

- Delivery of speech must be lively & dynamic.
- Secret of delivering animated speech lies in speaker's voice.
- You should speak your ideas & passions through an energetic voice.

2- Voice:

- Voice is main means of communication.
- Speaker should start speech with confident
- Keep the voice under his control.
- Voice should neither be loud nor low.
- should control pitch of voice.

What is pitch?

- Pitch is the highness or lowness of voice.
- voices pitch should be varied as the occasion demands in speaking.
- Main object is to draw attention of the audience.

3- Rate:

- Rate of uttering words.
- Experts (on communication) tell us → a good speaker should utter 80-160 words per minute.
- Vary from one speaker to the other.
- Slow speaker → un-impressive
- fast speaker → causes discomfort.

4- Volume:

- loudness or softness of your voice.
- increase or decrease volume according to situation
- Appropriate volume is the key to intelligibility
- It should be audible for audience.

5) Clarity:

- Volume should be clear.
- A good speaker should open his mouth fully & make his voice clear.

6- Pronunciation:

- A speaker must pronounce his words correctly.
- Keep in mind cultural & linguistic background of audience.

7- Vocal expression:

- Vocal expression is achieved collectively by changing pitch, volume, rate & intonation of certain words in speaking.

- General speeding vocal expression → reinforces emotions excitement Joy enthusiasm

- Lowering pitch of voice → indicate sorrow remorse Slowness

8- Posture:

- Stance & posture of a presenter tells a lot about his/her personality.
- Posture must be dynamic tool to reinforce rapport with the audience.
- Don't smack the tongue, lick the lips & scratch the nose.
- Make meaningful gestures complete agreement with speech.

9- Use of body Appearance

- Well dressed
- Appearance should reflect your personal audience & wish them first.
- Should smile at the

10. Eye Contact:

- Speaker should look at his audience attentively.
- It helps the audience concentrate on the speech.

11- Gestures:

- Speaker can make his delivery effective by the gestures of his hands, arms & fingers.

Q3: How can we get rid of fears while presenting?

A:

Strategies for Combating Stage Fright

Most people get nervous when they are asked to speak all of a sudden. Nervousness manifests itself in different ways in different people. It makes the speaker completely unfit for delivering a speech. However, when this fright is within control of the speaker, it enhances his or her performance skills/level.

Following are strategies for combating Stage Fright:

1. Be Positive:

- Tell yourself:
 - You're best → You are upper-hand.
 - you have all the potentiality of a good public speaker.
- This positive attitude will always save you against experiencing some kind of nervous feeling when you deliver your speech.

2. Be fully Prepared:

- One of the secrets for being free from any kind of stage fright is your thorough preparation for your talk.

- What is important to be an effective public speaker is not the number of ideas you cover on the subject concerned, but how you present them; however small in number they may be.

3- Visualise: • Spend a few minutes visualizing how well your speech is going to be received by your audience. This will send you to the rostrum with a positive bent of mind.

4- Inquiry into the Cause of One's anxiety:

- Ask yourself what actually makes you nervous.
- Once knows your Achilles heel then cope with it through Positivity.

5- Determination of exact nature of tension:

- Be familiar with exact nature of your tension & nervousness.
- Make some remedial action to get rid of it.
such as:- • Taking 2-3 long breaths before going to the stage.

6- Planning Some interesting activity in advance:

- Always Plan in advance.
- Keep in reserve some interesting activity for the end of speech. ↓ create a very good impact on the audience's mind.

7- Begin with some appropriate anecdote:

- Start your talk with some relevant anecdote

↓
Give an effective start to your speech

↓
take away your nervousness.

You can easily develop while speaking.

8- Clearance of Vocal Cords in advance:

- It would be a good idea to read aloud some of your old speeches before coming to the venue. → enable you to speak with perfect clarity.

9. Preparing a list of points to be covered:

- Note down the important points of speech on a small card sheet.
- Place the list at a point from where they can easily have a glimpse without taxing their memory.

10. Be selective in quantity & quality:

- Remember to be selective in what you say.
- Make conscious efforts to avoid any offensive, personal and debatable remarks as people feel touchy about them.
- Aimed brevity & uncontroversial statements.
- Should not elongate speech of more than 15-20 minutes.
- End on a cordial note, which should establish a bond b/w the speaker and the audience.

Q4: How many ways of delivering an oral message are found in the field of communication?

A:

Modes of delivery of presentation

We have four methods of delivering an oral message to the audience.

- ① Extemporaneous
- ② Manuscript / Reading
- ③ Memorization
- ④ Impromptu

① Extemporaneous:

- Popular method
- allows speaker to use notes or an outline.
- No need to learn every word & line by rote.
- Speaker should organize the subject matter of his speech.

Advantages

- Speaker gets enough time to prepare for the presentation.
- The speaker can add more material which comes to his mind during presentation.
- He gets a chance for more eye contact with audience.

Disadvantages

- based on presentation, if sound notes not prepared the whole speech failed.
- Speech will lose its natural colour if we depend too much on our notes.

② Manuscript / Reading:

- A speaker is supposed to read out material from his notes word for word.
- No need to memorize the speech.

- He stand on stage & read out what is written in his notebook.
- speaker must be a proficient reader.

Advantages

- accurate way of presentation
- Each word of speaker is recorded & has a permanent life
- no chance of tempering with facts & figures
- Material is organized fully & is quite systematic.
- Use of language is correct

Disadvantages

- Discourages eyes contact with audies
- Discourages body gestures; movement of arms, hands, head & shoulder.
- Speaker cannot add more material to the already written material.

③ Memorization:

- very difficult method of delivering a speech.
- Some good speakers memorize only some part of the speech & write down key words on cards to help them during speech.

Advantages

- Speaker has ample chances to make eye contact with the audience.
- Speaker has advantage of

Disadvantages

- It requires a lot of time to memorize a speech.
- speaker's memory may fade, if he doesn't revise his speech.

making bodily gestures to impress the audience.

• Speaker cannot add something to his speech.

④ Impromptu :

- Sometimes we are asked to offer comments on some topics.
- When we are supposed to speak without preparation & without forewarning, the process is called 'impromptu'.
- brief information.
- Speaker should try to remember & recall the quotations, anecdotes, & examples which he/she can easily set in the speech.

Advantages

- We have not to work hard to prepare the speech.
 - Our speech remains natural & unaffected. It retains its original colour.
 - It is spontaneous & simple.
- That is why, it impresses the audience.

Disadvantages

- It lacks organized material.
- It may slip into careless & irregular collection of facts & figures.
- If the speaker has poor proficiency at language, he cannot impress the audience.

Q5- How will you handle questions from the audience when you are supposed to answer them at the end of presentation?

*

Handling Questions from Audience.

- It is customary to have question time 8-10 minutes duration at the end of the presentation by the speaker.
- This time is kept reserved to enable the audience to seek clarification of certain points raised by the speaker during his / her presentation.
- As the time for speaker to clarify / simplify certain things that you mentioned in your presentation but could not do so for want of time.

Using the Question Time Effectively:

- At the beginning of your talk, do inform your audience that you would answer their questions at the end of your presentation related to your talk.
- Sometimes speaker may not get even a single question to answer. In such a situation, you can ask the audience on something you had said during your talk.

- Sometimes, audience do not respond even asking them their opinion. So, then speaker can use such sentences...
"I think, you don't have any question to ask me but I have to share an important question which has been repeatedly asked to me on different occasions"...
- With a view to making the question time a useful activity, repeat the question you received loudly.
- Sometimes, someone may ask a question which is not connected with the subject you discussed. Your response to such a question should not give the impression to the rest of the audience that the questioner has no intelligence.
- Sometimes, a listener may ask you such a question the answer to which is not readily available with you. In such a case, you can be honest enough to tell the person that you are not very sure whether you have the right answer to the question. You will soon inform them after searching.
- When somebody asks you a personal question, in such a situation, instead of snubbing the questioner, you better as questioner, go in return, e.g. What do you think the answer for this question would be.
- We also come across questioners, which start challenging speaker. In such a case, instead of getting nervous or losing temper just make your questioner agreeable with you politely.

Q6. What is non verbal delivery?

A:

Non Verbal Delivery

oral communication is the same as verbal communication.

Communication is possible even without making a speech.

The personality of the speaker, his way of addressing the audience & the movements of his hands speaks louder than his words. A speaker reveals his personality by the following non verbal signs.

- 1) Posture
- 2) Movement
- 3) Gestures
- 4) Facial Expression
- 5) Appearance

1) Posture:

• A good speaker delivers his speech through his body also.

• He balances his weight on both feet.

complete
confident

complete control

• He should avoid the following errors:

- a) He should not put his face down.
- b) He should not put awkward gestures on his body & face.

2) Movement:

• A speaker should move a few steps here & there on the

- dois. This, he should do to hold the attention of the audience.
- He should move from side to side rather than back & forth.
 - This movement is also useful to overcome stage fright.

3- Gestures:

- The movements which the speaker makes by his hands, arms, head & shoulders is called gestures.
- Hand & arm gestures are used for several reasons.
- The clenched fist is raised to emphasize a point. The index finger is used to call attention.
- Gestures are very important.

4) Facial Appearance (Expression):

- The expressions appearing on the face of the speaker also points out certain meanings.
- A smile or laugh suggests that the topic suits the temperament of the speaker.
- A frown or glare may convey his worry or anger. It may reflect his uneasiness.
- Facial expression includes eye contact.
- Eye contact with listeners suggest respect & goodwill.

5) Appearance:

- The appearance of a speaker is also very important.
- A good speaker is always very conscious about his dress. He wears impressive dress, keeping in view the cultural background of the audience he is going to address.
- His appearance tells the audience whether he is confident, regular & responsible in his habits.

Q7: Write a note on visual aids, their importance & function?

A: Visual aids, their types & functions

- Visual aids performs three main functions:

- a) increase the messenger's clarity.
- b) reinforce the messenger's impact.
- c) increase the speaker's dynamism.

- There are four basic types of visual aids:

- (i) Models
- (ii) Photographs
- (iii) Simple drawings & diagrams
- (iv) Maps

- Some other visual aids are:

- White boards or Chalk boards.
- Flip charts
- Charts
- Flow charts
- Organizational charts
- Pie charts
- Handouts
- Document Camera
- Computers, CD / DVD Players, & LCD Projector.

Q8 - What is the Importance of Visual aids?

A1-

Importance of Visual aids.

The speaker's use visual aids to make their speech or message more clear & transparent.

"Visuals go into the head through the eyes."

Visuals can be a great way to attract attention.

Good visuals are worth a hundred words. But bad visuals can distract & detract from your text & can undermine the impact of your writing.

- * Visual aids enhance understanding
- * Visual aids enhance memory
- * Visual aids help listeners organize ideas.
- * Visual aids help gain & maintain attention.
- * Visual aids illustrate events & procedures.

PUACP

Q9: When & how will you use visuals?

A:

(i) The process of visualizing your text.

When planning visual aids:-

- Decide what you want to say.
- Pick out the points that can be best said visually.
- Judge whether you have too many or too few graphics.
- Use visual aids to simplify, clarify & emphasize important information.

(ii) When to use Visual aids

Visual aids used for following circumstances:-

- To clarify
- To simplify.
- To emphasize
- To summarize
- To reinforce
- To attract
- To impress
- To unify.
- To beautify
- To explain.
- To exemplify

(iii) How to use visuals?

Michael Keene, author of Effective Professional Writing, recommends three guidelines for using visual aids to attract attention.

(i) Accessibility.

→ reach of sight of audience.

(ii) Appropriateness.

→ appropriate text & language.

(iii) Accuracy.

↓
acknowledgement

↓
correctness

↓
logical sense

PUACP

Q1- What is an interview? How will you classify them?

A:-

- Interviews -

The word interview means 'view between' or 'sight between'. It suggests a meeting b/w two persons for the purpose of getting a view of each other or for knowing each other. We can say that it is the interaction b/w an interviewer & interviewee. An interview is a means of two-way communication.

"An interview is a formal meeting in which a person or persons question, consult or evaluate another person or persons."

Interviewer :- A person who asks the questions.

Interviewee :- A person who replies.

Types of Interviews

Interviews are classified according to the purpose for which they held. we have classified them on the following basis:

iii Interviews dominated by the exchange of information.

2- Interviews geared towards the exchange of feelings.

Employment Interviews:

- most common & well-understood interview.
- Job candidate wants to learn more about the position & the organization.
- The employer wants to learn more about the applicant's abilities, attitudes & experience.
- basis for important decision for both parties.
- Normally, a panel of interviewers is involved.
- can be advertised through media.

Exit Interviews:

- It is given to a person who has resigned from an organization.
- Organization wants to know reason behind his resignation.
- An eloge-employee honestly talk about his reasons he has no boss's fear. His information will be honest about organization in Exit Interviews.

Informative Interviews:

- Interviewer seeks facts that are important to basic understanding for events.
- It mainly flows in one-way (direction).
- Interviewer can keep answering questioning & clarifies his doubts.
- Done for predetermined process.
- Appropriate decision for setting up the project & can decide on the site.

4) Persuasive Interviews:

- These are very common when salesmen perform individual selling or in industrial marketing.
- These are a platform for using talking skills, listening skills & the ability of people to impart relevant information.

5) Stress Interviews:

- This interview puts the candidate into stressful (difficult) situations in order to test his / her reactions to some stress.
 - This objective is to find out whether they will be able to cope up with the different situations in a balanced way.
 - Several methods are employed to throw the candidate off balance:-
 - i) Questions are asked by different people together.
 - ii) Cross questioning & confusion is created.
 - iii) Arguing takes place.
 - iv) Rapid fire questioning on different topics take place.
 - v) Answers were ridiculed.
 - vi) The candidates are subjected to silence & inattention.
- Only cool-headed & self-possessed candidates pass this test.

6- Counselling interviews:

- This interview held when senior talks to a subordinate about personal problems that are ^{for} interfering with work performance.
- The interviewer has to have critical listening skills as well as be empathetic, as human emotions are involved.

7- Disciplinary Interviews:

- Sometimes there is a need to correct the behaviour of an employee who has ignored the rules & regulations of the organization.
- The purpose of the interview is to make the employee see reason, & realize his faults.

8- Conflict Resolution Interviews:

- In enterprises, very often opposite minded groups emerge & get into arguments, which are harmful for the progress of the organization.
- Both the parties are right & both are important in their own ways.
- The need arises to resolve their conflicts in a formal way.
- Both parties are encouraged to adjust their perceptions & attitudes to create a more productive climate for work.
- Emphatic & active listening skills are required here.

9- Assessment Interview:

- This type of interview is more for discussion.
- It focuses on the career development of the employee, shortcoming, areas, which need improvement, training needs, opportunities for promotion etc.
- The immediate boss, who knows the employee well, normally does this.

What are characteristics of a good job interview?

Characteristics of a Good Job Interview

This is the most common type of interview. & will
The candidate must be prepared in an all-around way for the interview.

1- Physical Preparation

- (i) Grooming
- (ii) Posture
- (iii) Good manners & conducts.

2- Mental Preparation.

- (i) Well - updated
- (ii) Well - informed
- (iii) Geographically strong.
- (iv) fully prepared for Questions.

3- Psychological Preparation.

- (i) Mentally agile
- (ii) Don't be diffident.
- (iii) Well-Tackling ability
- (iv) Don't be scared & insecure.
- (v) Mentally sure of.

Q31- What are "Do's" & "Don'ts" of an interview?

A:

The 'Do's'

- 1) Do follow the interviewer's leads & prompts.
- 2) Do make sure that you highlight your strengths to the interviewer in a factual, sincere manner.
- 3) Do realise that the interviewer will ask you questions about your skills that relate to the selection criteria or the requirements of the position.
- 4) Do make sure you leave the impression that you are more interested in the activities involved in the job.
- 5) Do always indicate your interest in the job for which you're being interviewed.
- 6) Do ask questions when given the opportunity.
- 7) Do take advantage of the opportunity to add anything else in your favour if asked.

The "Don'ts"

- 1) Don't answer question with a simple "Yes" or "No".
- 2) Don't respond in a general, vague, or hesitant manner.
- 3) Don't over answer questions.
- 4) Don't ever make derogatory remarks about your present or former employers.
- 5) Don't enquire about salary, holidays, bonuses or retirement at the initial interview.
- 6) Don't lie.
- 7) Don't focus on negatives.

What is the role of an interviewer?

THE INTERVIEWER'S ROLE.

An interview costs time & money. In order that the right candidate is selected, the interviewer has to be properly prepared & equipped:

The interviewer has a manifold objective, which he has to accomplish:

- 1) He has to find out the most suitable person for the job from amongst the available people.
- 2) He has to create a sense of confidence & understanding in the selected candidates.
- 3) He has to give the candidates sufficient information about the job & the organization. This will help them to take a suitable decision.
- 4) He has to promote the goodwill of the company by giving the right kind of impression to all the candidates.

At the time of interview, the interviewee must consider the following points:

- 1) A relaxed atmosphere can be created by interviewer having a brief conversation unrelated to the interview & by using the candidate's name.

- 2) Friendly responses to what the candidate says make the candidate comfortable & encourage him to speak.
- 3) A candidate must never be humiliated even if it is obvious that he is unsuitable.
- 4) If the interviewer conducted a stress interview, the interview candidate should be told that it was stress interviewing & that he need not feel anxious about it.

The interviewer must let the candidate do most of talking & gently guide the conversation if he goes off on a tangent.

The interviewer must see that all the conditions are set for properly assessing the candidate so that the purpose of the interview is met.

Q. What are the factors which are responsible for your failure in an interview?

Factors Responsible for failure in an Interview.

There are many factors which are may bring your failure in your examination. They are discussed below:

1. Arrogance

- Do not show to the interviewers that they have asked you a foolish & silly question.
- Do not lean back on the back of your chair. It may reflect your arrogance.

2. Apathy

- In order to show interest in the interview, you must put a smile on your face & make an eye contact with the interviewer.

3. Nervousness

- You shouldn't be nervous during the interview, though nervousness is a common thing in an interview. You must control it.
- Try to control un-necessary bodily gestures. Do not twist your mustaches again & again during an interview. Do not shake your hands & or legs.
- Sit before them with decorum & nicety.

4- Beating about the bush:

- Don't be irrelevant in your interview. If you do not know the answer of a question, do not beat about the bush.
- Don't mislead your interviewers.
- Try to be honest & sincere in your answer.

5- Lack of Concentration:

- It means you are not listening to the interviewers properly.
- You are giving irrelevant answers to their questions.
- Don't let your mind wander & here & there. Listen to them properly & then answer them.

6- Lack of Firmness:

- You should be firm & steadfast in your views. Don't keep on changing the areas of your expertise.
- You should not change your interest to some other unrelated area.

7- Lack of etiquette:

- You must observe social etiquette during an interview.
- If interviewers offer you some drink or fast food, you can refuse the offer in a very polite manner. You can use such words - 'sorry please, excuse me, that you' to your denial or acceptance of some offer.

Good!
Neat Work!
Checked!